The Glorious Pickle Times

By Ellie Nowlin | Volume 2 | March 18th, 2020 TODAY'S ACTIVITIES

-Mo Willems Lunch Doodle at noon on YouTube, Episode 3

-Rachel Wyatt's Science Made Simple

-Cincinnati Zoo animal exhibit at 2:00 pm on Facebook live

-Oliver Jeffers read-aloud
at 1:00 pm on Instagram Live
-Virtual Field Trips at
https://tinyurl.com/uxey6xb

REVIEW

Movie: Little Women (2019)
A modern take on the classic book Little Women by Louisa May Alcott. Timeline is a little weird but overall it's a great movie for 9+.

The Daily Bean Featured drawing series

THE DAILY INTERVIEW

Erika Nowlin

When asked her most embarrassing moment, Erika Nowlin took a deep breath and said, "When I was eleven or twelve, I took a bike ride with my mom." They were only a couple of streets away from being home when "for some unknown reason, I started wondering what it would be like to ride a bike if you were blind." Well, kids, you can guess what happened next. "I closed my eyes and within five seconds slammed straight into the back of a parked truck and fell to the ground." Her mom rode up and asked what happened, but Erika was too embarrassed to tell her the truth, so she said she lost control of the bike. "I picked up the bike and shamefully rode the rest of the way home."

DAD JOKE OF THE DAY

If I see a robbery in an Apple Store, does that make me an iWitness?

Tonight (by Jin) by Kassidy Nowlin

